

Sam's journey to founding Somos Cleaning Service is deeply rooted in a desire to deliver exceptional service while making a meaningful impact. After graduating from Rutgers, Sam embarked on an eight-year career with Aldi, where he honed his expertise in operations and leadership.

Rising to the position of Senior Operations Manager, Sam had the unique opportunity to represent Aldi in the United Kingdom for two years, overseeing critical projects and later contributing to the company's National Operations Committee in Ohio. These roles allowed him to lead high-volume operations across New Jersey and New York, manage diverse teams, and learn what real leadership to his people looked like.

Known for his ability to blend operational efficiency with a people-centered approach, Sam earned a reputation for driving success while fostering a supportive and collaborative environment. Although he thrived in the corporate world, Sam felt a growing pull toward creating something of his own—a business that combined his professional expertise with his passion for serving others.

Recognizing an opportunity to bring operational excellence and personal care to the cleaning industry, Sam founded Somos Cleaning Service.

Under his hands-on leadership, SOMOS has grown rapidly, serving over 250 clients within its first six months. This success reflects Sam's unwavering commitment to quality and his belief that every client and employee should feel valued.

Somos Cleaning Service is also a platform for giving back. Through the SOMOS Charity Initiative, the company donates a portion of its proceeds to provide sports equipment to children in Latin America. These donations support communities in Nicaragua and the Dominican Republic, where service projects like beach and neighborhood cleanups empower youth and foster community pride.

For Sam, Somos Cleaning Service represents more than a business—it's the realization of his dream to create meaningful connections, give back to the community, and enjoy the work he does every day. With every clean, Somos delivers on its promise of excellence while making a positive impact on the lives of those it serves.
